Technology Partnerships That Span the Marketplace

DLH is proud to partner with marketplace leaders in support of the exceptional Health IT solutions our clients expect. Our expertise and partnerships allow us to deploy and manage complex health data analysis to uncover trends, gain unique insights, and improve research outcomes in our nation's vital interest. We build technologies using high performance computing workloads to run large scale models, optimize cost, implement data security best practices, and drive innovation and experimentation.

The knowledge and expertise to meet your needs, no matter the platform.

ORACLE

DLH leverages knowledge in public health disciplines along with systems design and development to deliver enterprise solutions tailored to the challenges and opportunities our customers face. Our expertise spans web-based systems, cloud solutions, microservices, DevSecOps, and mobile applications. We oversee the collection and management of health data, understand unique health communication portals, and develop tailored data analytics and business intelligence solutions.
